

Come Unto Me Lyrics

[Verse 1]

The Seventh Day has arrived,
As the dawn begins to rise,
Yahusha breathes soft and gently,
Come to me, release your sighs.
The weary hearts are calling,
Burdens heavy on their minds,
Even in tumultuous times,
Find the peace Yahusha refines.

[Chorus]

Come unto Me all who are weary,
Come unto Me all who are worn,
Lay down every heavy burden,
Find the rest that I have sworn.
There remains a holy Sabbath,
There remains a place of peace,
The silhouette of Your presence,
All my striving finally ceases.

[Verse 2]

With every step the road gets harder,
The world tries to steal my grace,
But I hear the call of Heaven,

In the moments I embrace.
A rhythm gently guiding,
Melody of sweet refrain,
The promise of this invitation,
Erasing every ounce of pain.

[Chorus]

Come unto Me all who are weary,
Come unto Me all who are worn,
Lay down every heavy burden,
Find the rest that I have sworn.
There remains a holy Sabbath,
There remains a place of peace,
The silhouette of Your presence,
All my striving finally ceases.

[Bridge (Hebrews 4)]

There remains, there remains,
A Sabbath rest for Your people,
There remains, there remains,
A promise standing still.
If another day were spoken,
Surely You would have said,
But Your Word remains forever,
And Your promise lives.

[Verse 3]

Now our hearts beat in surrender,
As the choir lifts its voice,
The burdens melt like morning mist,
In Your love, we rejoice.
Our confidence in promises,
Written in the skies above,
In the sanctuary of Your grace,
We find rest, we find love.

[Chorus]

Come unto Me all who are weary,
Come unto Me all who are worn,
Lay down every heavy burden,
Find the rest that I have sworn.
There remains a holy Sabbath,
There remains a place of peace,
The silhouette of Your presence,
All my striving finally ceases.

[Outro]

So here we stand, as one,
On this sacred day as we must,
Fueled by hope and healing,
In Your promise, Yahusha, we trust.
Resting in Your Holy presence,

In the glory of Your grace,
Yahusha, we will follow,
In our hearts, Your love we embrace.
