

Creation Bows To You Lyrics

[Intro]

[Sound of gentle wind rustling through trees, followed by soft birdsong]

[Verse 1]

In the stillness of the morning, when the light breaks free,
I feel Your presence flowing, like the waves of the sea.
Every leaf and every flower dances in Your grace,
Creation sings a melody, reflecting Your embrace.
Oh, the mountains rise to greet You, standing tall and proud,
Their peaks are whispers of worship, singing out loud.

[Chorus]

Creation bows to You, in the sun and the dew,
All nature worships too, with hearts strong and true.
From every mountain breeze, to the crashing of Your Seas,
The foundations declare You are God, oh Yahuah, we believe.

[Verse 2]

Through the valleys and the rivers, Your love flows deep and wide,
Every creature shows Your power, in the heart of the tide.
As the sun sets on the horizon, painting skies ablaze,
We gather here together, lost in Your holy gaze.
The stars, they shine upon us, like Your blessings from above,
Every twinkle tells a story of pure and boundless love.

[Chorus]

Creation bows to You, in the sun and the dew,
All nature worships too, with hearts strong and true.
From every mountain breeze, to the crashing of Your Seas,
The foundations declare You are God, oh Yahuah, we believe.

[Bridge]

Oh Abba, hear our voices, rising like the morning sun,
In this sacred moment, we unite as one.
We lift our hands with gratitude, let our hearts ignite,
In this beautiful communion, we dwell in Your light.
Let the rivers flow like worship, let the trees stand tall,
With every breath we offer, we surrender all.

[Verse 3]

From the shadows to the daylight, we will sing Your praise,
In the storms and in the valleys, through the longest days.
Every heartbeat is a blessing, every tear is a song,
We will dance upon the mountains, where we truly belong.
Your spirit fills our spirits, every moment divine,
In this joyous celebration, let Your glory shine.

[Outro]

As we stand in Your presence, under skies so vast,
We are part of Your creation, where our love holds fast.

Let the echoes of our worship carry through the land,

In this sacred connection, together we will stand.

We are woven into nature, a testimony bold,

With every breath we honor You, Yahuah, we behold.